Exhibit A

It's strange that you are all of sudden texting me. I guess you're trying to plot again. The things that you said to me and tried to do to me even in front of my aunt and even when she wasn't looking and called me a liar. I can never trust you. I don't want a relationship and I just want to be left alone.

I made plenty of mistakes no one's perfect but the alone.

I made plenty of mistakes no one's perfect but the mistakes I made I want to make up for it and you know I'm definitely a good dad and tried to do my best for you I didn't have my dad around and I want to be around for you that's all I want I don't care about nothing else just want you in my life

Text #2

I don't want to go back and forth about the negative things just want positivity in my life

I am tired on having anxiety & fear of you. Then, you always have to bring my mom up. You went to court and made it seem like it was all in my head. You have tried to kill a man in front of me, had me stirring up my mom's clothes while you were burning them, drag my mom in the house, drink and smoke with your friends and kept me in my room, kept pulling guns out on my mom and I had to beg you to stop, push my mom into scoliosis, hear my mom scream out several times while I was in the room acting like I was sleep, put your middle finger up at me and try to attack me because I simply asked you not to bring up my mom and you tell me that you was going to kill my mom, and more stuff. I'm the only one that can say if you are a good father & this is more than just negative stuff like you said. It has made me look at black men as violent. I prefer not to even date one because of you. I went to my and more stuff. I'm the only one that can say if you are a good father & this is more than just negative stuff like you said. It has made me look at black men as violent. I prefer not to even date one because of you. I went to my counselor to calm my fears down. It was a good thing that your dad wasn't in your life because you sure was a bad thing in mine. I use to love you no matter what you did, but I don't love you at all after you I saw that you treated me that way and then lied love you at all after you I saw that you treated me that way and then lied on me. You are sick! If I even have a child, you won't be in their life. I'm going to go back to doing my work and if you do anything to us I will tell.

I don't want to fight I don't want to argue anymore and dwell on the past what happened happen time to just move on to the future if that's not with you that's your choice you
